

THREE POLICEMEN SAY GIRL STABBED THEM TO PROTECT ESCORT

Declare She Used Hatpin
When They Sought to Arrest Male Friend.

Miss Jennie Sennelly, twenty-five years old, started a near-riot on a Williamsburg Bridge car bound for Manhattan to-day when, it is charged, she stabbed with a hatpin three policemen who were arresting her escort, Peter Gistina, of No. 207 Grand street, Manhattan. Gistina had been to a tango party in Williamsburg and the young woman was on her way to her home, No. 207 East Fourteenth street, Manhattan, when they boarded the car. After it started Gistina decided he wanted to get off. He was told the car wouldn't stop till it reached Manhattan. Then Gistina yanked the trolley off the wire. That brought the motorman into the car with his controller and a switchman with his switch-bar. Also there came Sergeant Schilling and Police-men Thull and Orr. They told Gistina to surrender.

CO-RESPONDENT ASKS $25,000 FOR BEATING FROM ANGRY HUSBAND

Percy M. Thorne Sues Frank
R. Poss as Result of Boudoir Battle.

For having broken his jaw in such a manner that he has been unable to maintain solid food, Percy M. Thorne, named as co-respondent in a divorce suit brought by Frank R. Poss, wealthy head of the Poss Motor Company of Detroit, to-day filed suit against Poss in the Supreme Court for $25,000 damages.

The jawbreaking occurred in the Poss home at No. 137 Riverside Drive, on Feb. 25, when, Poss alleges, he broke in the door with his friends to obtain divorce evidence. What happened is described by Thorne as follows:

"He violently assaulted me and beat and struck me on the head and on the face, inflicting grave injuries, most serious of which was a broken jaw. Since then I have been unable to chew or eat solid foods and cannot attend to my business and, in addition have suffered great humiliation at the hands of my friends."

There was no provocation for the assault, Thorne adds, since his conduct towards Mrs. Poss had been that of a gentleman.

The filing of Thorne's suit adds another chapter to the already complex series of litigation begun by the Posses and Thorne. The first intimation that there was trouble between the couples came two weeks ago, when Mrs. Thorne filed suit for $100,000 damages against Mrs. Poss for alienating the affections of Thorne. As soon as Mr. Poss heard of this he began a suit for divorce.

DIVORCE PAPERS SERVED WITH CHOP SUEY.

Poss had the summons and complaint served upon Mrs. Poss at a chop suey restaurant at Ninety-sixth street and Broadway. Thorne sat in a chair beside Mrs. Poss and both read the papers with apparent interest.

According to George R. Simpson, attorney for Mrs. Thorne in the alienation suit, Mrs. Poss first met Thorne early this winter. Mrs. Thorne, throughout six years of married life had known nothing but happiness. Her husband, young, handsome, rich and popular, had centered his devotion upon her, but it is alleged that his acquaintance with Mrs. Poss worked a change. He remained away from his beautiful Riverside home, ostensibly to fill important business engagements, but in reality, according to the lawyer, to enjoy late suppers and tango distractions in the society of Mrs. Poss.

About this time, it developed later, Poss decided to keep watch on his wife. One night he was dining in Healey's when a gay party of eight entered and took seats at a neighboring table. Thorne and Mrs. Poss were in this party. The friendliness exhibited between Thorne and Mrs. Poss enraged her husband and he rushed at Thorne and gave the latter a black eye. This fracas is not involved in Thorne's suit filed to-day.

Thorne is President of the Manufacturer's Coal and Utilities Company, with offices in the Grand Central Terminal. He belongs to an old family of Westchester County.

CHARGED WITH THEFT, SAYS WOMAN GOT $447

Restaurant Banquet Manager Blames Pickpocket for Loss of Dinner Bill.

David A. Rickey, who had a big restaurant in Princeton until a few months ago, hoped to-day that he might be paroled when he was arraigned in the West Side Court so that he could look for the woman who, he believes, stole $447 from his pocket last Thursday, and thereby caused John Wagner, a business associate, to have him arrested last night as a thief.

But Magistrate Corrigan disappointed him by holding him in $2,000 bail for examination to-morrow, but Mr. Rickey has hopes that his father, who is said to be a wealthy jeweler of Trenton, N. J., will come to his assistance.

The young man has been employed at Reisenweber's recently arranging for banquets, especially among college men, with whom he has a wide acquaintance. On Feb. 18 he arranged a big dinner for one of the Princeton clubs at Reisenweber's.

The bill for $447 was sent out by Mr. Wagner on the first of the month and when he got no check he began inquiries and learned that the money had been paid to Rickey on Thursday. Detective Maddox found Rickey at the Elks' Club last night. Rickey told Maddox that his pocket had been picked of the $447. He said he thought a woman robbed him in a Columbus avenue car. Since then, he said, he had been hunting for the woman.

Ends Her Life for Husband's Friend
Because she could not forget her husband's friend in Adrianople Mrs. Victoria Harday cut her throat in the presence of her three small children. A note she wrote was translated by the editor of La America, a Turkish newspaper. It was addressed to the husband and said that she had been three months away from "Leon, who is your friend, and whom I cannot forget. She could not bear it longer, she said. She had been in America only three months.

Miss Dickie Delano Dies.
Word was received here yesterday of the death in Milwaukee of Miss Dickie Delano, an actress associated with Cohan & Harris for years. Her last appearance in New York was with George M. Cohan in "The Little Millionaire." She was playing in the Western "Big Trail" company last week when she underwent an operation from the consequences of which she died. Her home was in Philadelphia.

PRETTY WIDOW ROUTS CAR CREW WITH HATPIN AFTER TRANSFER ROW

Mrs. Smith Saw Escort Put Off
Car, but Just Wouldn't Follow.

Because she jabbed a conductor in the face with a hat pin, and with the same ornament put to rout the whole crew of a Sixth avenue surface car, a stylishly dressed young woman, describing herself as Mrs. Kate Smith, a widow, of Nutley, N. J., had to pay a fine of $5 in the Night Court early to-day.

Mrs. Smith, with an escort who declined to give his name, left a Columbus avenue car at Seventh avenue and Fifty-third street last night to board a downtown Sixth avenue car. She said the transfers given her escort proved to be uptown transfers, and John Mead, conductor on the Sixth avenue car, declined to accept them.

An argument followed, and the young widow's escort was put off the car by the combined efforts of conductor, motorman and an inspector. Mrs. Smith declined their invitation to join him in the street, and when the conductor undertook to put her off, it is alleged she stuck a hatpin in his face. This abruptly ended his ambition. Policeman Schneider says when he arrived the young had driven the entire car crew to the street and was in full possession of the car. Watching her at a safe distance were the car crew, two inspectors and the usual New York crowd. She readily accompanied the policeman.

THIEF CAUGHT IN TRAP.

Eleven Householders Identify Man in Police Court.

George Kraig, of No. 168 West Two Hundred and Forty-first street, held by Magistrate Corrigan to-day in West Side Court for General larceny under $1,000 bail for grand larceny, confessed that his detection was due to a let-down in his standards of thievery. It was his practice, he explained, to go to apartments renting for $20 or more and ask to look at furnished apartments to be sub-let. He then stole what was lying around and worth while.

George Newbauer, superintendent of the apartment house at No. 200 West Seventy-ninth street, showing Kraig a $100 a month apartment Saturday saw him drop a watch. The superintendent locked him in a room and sent for Detective McCormick and Stark, who have been for weeks looking for a man of Kraig's description for similar thefts. They found in his pockets a gold watch, jewelry and cigar cutty, all of which had been picked up in the apartment. In court twelve complainants who had been robbed identified him.
